Print if you like, but there are also copies at reference desk. Last score counts!

Identifying books, scores, recordings, etc.: use a library catalog

1. SPU, <http://deborah.spu.edu/>
2. Summit, <http://summit.orbiscascade.org/>
3. WorldCat. An SPU database, <http://www.spu.edu/depts/library/databases/index.htm>.
(WorldCat is not easily searched by Library of Congress Subject Heading. For this use the catalog of a major research library like Harvard's (<http://holliscatalog.harvard.edu>).

Securing books, scores, recordings, etc.: use especially the REQUEST THIS ITEM button in Summit

Identifying articles: use a database or an index

- International Index to Music Periodicals. A University of Washington database, <http://www.lib.washington.edu/types/databases/>
- Music Index. A Seattle Public Library database, http://www.spl.org/default.asp?pageID=collection_db_subscription
- RILM Abstracts of Music Literature. An SPU database, <http://www.spu.edu/depts/library/databases/index.htm>

Others. Just for example,

Academic Search Premiere. An SPU database,

<http://www.spu.edu/depts/library/databases/index.htm>

Research Library Complete. An SPU database,

<http://www.spu.edu/depts/library/databases/index.htm>
